These images are all over Facebook and YouTube. A friend sent them to me in an email, and being a cat owner myself, I had to share them with you. If you want more, Google his name or visit his website www.thetopiarycat.com. You can buy greeting cards with these pictures on them.

The English Surrealist painter Richard Saunders uses thick shrubs and trees to create his enormous cats. Once he saw trees cut in the shape of clouds on a picture, he got the idea to turn shrubs into sculptures of cats. He also paints in the Surrealist genre in oils.

The prototype that served him is his cat Tolly, deceased, the Russian Blue. You can see these cats in many corners of England and they are much appreciated by the population.
