The timing of this talk is appropriate because April is Native
Plant Month in Ohio!

Ginger Woolridge will underscore the case for using natives, including the serious threats they face in both the planted and wild landscapes. She will review many of our proven and attractive native plants, their uses, their cultures and contribution to our ecology. April is Native Plant month for Ohio.

Ginger's recently published book Essential Native Trees and Shrubs for the Eastern United States will be available, signed, for $30.00 cash or check, or $35.00 credit card.

Kim Hawkins has been a Master Gardener since 2008 and recently won the award for Master Gardener of the Year at the state level. There's a beautiful hydrangea for every garden. Learn about the different types of hydrangeas and how to care for them.
