African Violets and Other House Plants

Presented by Cuyahoga County

Master Gardener Volunteer Don Landek

We're probably all missing our gardens already. But what better way to fill the need to be hands-on with living green things than with house plants. This presentation starts with a brief history of house plants and the benefits of growing them. It then covers their light requirements, soil, and watering needs. Finally, it takes a deeper dive into some key aspects of African violets, including the propagation of regular and chimera violets. African violets currently have over 19,000 named hybrids and are one of the most popular house plants worldwide

Don Landek became a Master Gardener Volunteer in 2019 to pursue a life-long interest in plants and plant propagation. He retired two years ago as Administrative Director of Laboratories at University Hospital after a
